

Agriculture & Forestry Today with Commissioner Bob Odom

A Louisiana delegation recently visited Cuba for the 3rd Anniversary of Cuba-USA Commercial Negotiations, Agriculture and Forestry Commissioner Bob Odom said.

The 11-member delegation included the Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry's Market Development Director, poultry and seafood industry representatives, and officials from the Department of Economic Development.

"We sent Roy Johnson, market development director, because of his background in dealing with retail buyers in an international setting," Odom said. "In Cuba the situation is a little different because there is only one buyer for the entire country, but we're trying to work with them to get more Louisiana agricultural products into the country."

Currently, the Cuban government is purchasing Louisiana rice and importing legumes that are shipped through the Port of Lake Charles. The Louisiana delegation is hoping their latest visit to the country will help launch the export of Louisiana timber, poultry, grain and seafood to Cuba.

"The goal of the trip was to get Louisiana a bigger share of what is already being exported to Cuba from the United States," Johnson said. "Many of the commodities grown here in Louisiana are being sold to Cuba by other states and countries. We'd like Louisiana farmers, ranchers and foresters to get their share of that business."

The weekly Economic Eye on Cuba from the U.S.-Cuba Trade and Economic Council, Inc. recently listed the ten largest agricultural exports from the United States to Cuba in July of 2004 by U.S. dollar value. Wheat was number one, poultry number two, soybean flour number four, corn number six and cotton number eight. The total value of the 10 largest exports to Cuba in July 2004 was $29.7 million.

"There is definite positive financial potential in doing business with Cuba right now," Odom said. "They know what their people need and they know we can provide it. They are already buying from other countries what they import from the United States, but the freight is cheaper from the U.S. and the quality of American products is so much better."

Agricultural and food products are exported from the United States to Cuba under provisions of the Trade Sanctions Reform and Export Enhancement Act of 2000, which re-authorized direct commercial exports on a cash basis.
